How much does it cost to join this site?

Nothing, joining this site is free, however if you join we better know each other or how we're related or work towards it, eventually we will piece it together. I am charging nobody anything, the only thing in connection with this site that costs any money is if you choose to print out pictures through the default vender, they send us a small kickback which we put into the upkeep of the site, otherwise it is simply a labor of love.
